Theme & Outcomes

The theme for this year’s conference is “Trusted Agents of Change: Nurses Balancing Inequities in Mental Health Care”. The overall conference learning outcomes are:

- Increase awareness of barriers that prevent access to evidence-supported, affordable, culturally congruent mental health and substance use care for all people in need.
- Examine and value innovations in mental health and substance use care that enable individuals and families to achieve full and healthy lives.
- Identify strategies to fully integrate mental health and substance use care into whole health promotion models of care delivery using research, educational revolution, practice innovation, policy change and administrative action.

General Information

The 2018 APNA Scholarly Review Committee invites you to submit an abstract proposal to be considered for presentation at the 32nd Annual Conference. All submissions undergo peer-review by 3 members of the Scholarly Review Committee (SRC). Please carefully read the following instructions as incomplete submissions will not be sent to reviewers for consideration.

During submission, indicate the presentation formats(s) under which your abstract will be reviewed. The options are: 2 hour pre-conference, 45 minute concurrent, 20 minute mini concurrent, and poster. Select all that apply and your abstract will be reviewed based on your presentation format selections of first choice, second choice and so on. You are still welcome to submit for only one type of presentation (ie, poster or concurrent session) in the First Choice dropdown, and it will be reviewed for that presentation type only.

Review the format descriptions and complete the online submission process for the selected type of presentation. Presentation proposals must be submitted through the online process by the deadline in order to be considered for review.

Each Submission must include:

- An abstract (250 word limitation) – The abstract submission is divided by section into individual fields. You can include as many words as you like per section, but the total of all sections must not exceed 250 words.
- A 50-word Presentation Summary for printing
- Educational Outline Summary of presentation - Answering the questions "What will you present?" and "How will you engage the participants/learners in the presentation?"
- One learning outcome for all abstracts submitted (including poster presentations) – We recommend that you use Bloom's Taxonomy action verbs for your outcomes. Here is a handout which lists the different categories and possible verbs: Bloom's Taxonomy Action Verbs
Each listed author must provide:

- Biographical information including credentials and educational background
- Recording and Abstract Publication release forms
- Disclosure Statement

If you are selected to present, you will be expected to sign a presenter agreement which states that you will comply with the listed deadlines and presenter guidelines. Failure to meet the required deadlines and presenter guidelines may result in the cancellation of your presentation and/or loss of your presenter discount. All selected presentations will be reviewed by an APNA Nurse Planner for adherence to ANCC Commission on Accreditation CE provider guidelines.

The American Psychiatric Nurses Association is accredited as a provider of continuing nursing education by the American Nurses Credentialing Center’s Commission on Accreditation.

Format Descriptions

Not sure which presentation format will work best for your proposed session content? If you have questions, contact APNA at pblack@apna.org.

Pre-conference Sessions

Pre-conference sessions are designed to offer an in-depth learning experience about select topics. “How to…” submissions are also encouraged. Format includes 2-hour sessions. The number of attendees is limited and requires additional payment. Pre-conference sessions with more than one faculty must indicate a primary presenter. APNA will provide a $200 discount on full conference registration for one presenting author. This is most commonly the primary presenter, whose contact information is entered first. This cannot be combined with any other discount. Each presenter must register for the conference by the Early Bird Deadline of September 10, 2018.

Concurrent Sessions

Concurrent sessions are designed for a presentation needing review or discussion of material. Presentations follow a 45-minute format that includes 10 minutes of audience discussion. APNA will provide a $100 discount on full conference registration for one presenting author. This is most commonly the primary presenter, whose contact information is entered first. This cannot be combined with any other discount. Each presenter must register for the conference by the Early Bird Deadline of September 10, 2018.

Mini Concurrent Sessions

“Mini” concurrent sessions are 20-minute presentations (plus time for audience discussion), grouped by topic/theme/category with another mini concurrent session, and presented within one 45-minute time period. APNA will provide a $100 discount on full conference registration for one presenting author of each presentation. This is most commonly the primary presenter, whose contact information is entered first. This cannot be combined with any other discount. Each presenter must register for the conference by the Early Bird Deadline of September 10, 2018.

Collaborating presentations / presenters: During the submission for a mini concurrent session, you will have the opportunity to enter the name of another submitting author with whom you would be interested in being grouped.

Poster Presentations

Poster presentations offer an opportunity for clinical and/or scientific presentations in an interactive environment. APNA will provide a $100 discount on full conference registration for one presenting author. This is most commonly the primary presenter, whose contact information is entered first. This cannot be combined with any other discount. As posters are available for viewing on multiple days, poster presenters must register for the full conference. Each poster presenter must register for the conference by the Early Bird Deadline of September 10, 2018.

Online Poster Gallery: Abstracts of poster presentations given at the conference will be published in the Online
Poster Gallery for attendee access during and after the conference unless otherwise indicated by the presenter. The inclusion of a poster pdf in the gallery is optional – it is not required for presentation at the conference, though highly recommended. However it is required that you submit your poster (and appropriate permissions) for CE review purposes by the Poster pdf upload deadline of August 27, 2018.

Poster Judging: First and second place recognition will be awarded to posters in the categories of administration, research, education, and practice. One student poster will also be recognized. Poster judges will access the poster pdfs prior to the conference for scoring purposes. Presenters will need to upload their pdfs by August 27, 2018 in order to be included in the poster judging process. The inclusion of a poster pdf in the gallery is optional – it is not required for presentation at the conference. However, your poster will not be included in the judging process if you do not meet the poster pdf upload deadline.

Invited Interactive Panels (APNA Councils and Committees)

Interactive panels are not council meetings. Instead they are a venue for councils and committees to provide continuing education content specific to their domain. These are invited sessions, and are not open for submission. However, these invited speakers are required to submit their information and materials through the online submission process as well. Space is not guaranteed without presenter information and materials submission.

Industry Sponsored Symposium

Check the APNA website for the symposium guidelines and a submission application. Deadline date for applications: May 21, 2018

Evaluation Criteria For Abstract Proposals

Abstracts in Research should address the following:

- Problem Statement
  - What was the problem that led you to conduct this study?
- Theoretical framework
  - What theories or concepts were applied to create a frame of reference?
- Methods and Design
  - What methods were used to collect and analyze the data?
- Results
  - What do the data indicate?
- Implications for psychiatric-mental health nursing practice
  - How does this research translate into practice?
- Implications for future research

Abstracts in Administration, Education, or Practice should address the following:

- Purpose
  - Clinical topics: What is your purpose in addressing the topic/current trend to this audience?
  - Practice change: What problem/issue led to this intervention/practice/project?
- Summary of evidence / Summary of evidence guiding the practice change
  - Clinical topics: What is the background and evidence related to the topic?
  - Practice change: What evidence led to the proposed change in administration, education, or practice?
- Description of practice or protocol
  - Clinical topics: What are the current practices related to the topic?
  - Practice change: Include strategies for implementation and identify stakeholders.
- Validation of Evidence / Method of Evaluation
  - Clinical topics: How is the evidence validated by the literature or current practice?
  - Practice change: How did you measure outcomes or effectiveness?
- Relevance to PMH Nursing / Results
A submission is more likely to be accepted if it is original, innovative, and contributes to the scholarly practice of psychiatric-mental health nursing. Quality of work, clarity and completeness of the submitted materials will be considered. The Scholarly Review Committee receives more proposals than space available. Careful attention to these criteria is likely to increase the chance for acceptance. Click here for an example of the review form.

Submission (Final Deadline: March 5, 2018)

When submitting your abstract proposal, please be sure to:

Choose from the following presentation options, selecting all formats for which you’d like your abstract to be reviewed: 2 hour Pre-conference, 45 minute Concurrent Session, 20-minute Mini Concurrent Session, Poster Presentation. Your abstract will be reviewed based on your presentation format selections of first choice, second choice and so on. You are still welcome to submit for only one type of presentation (ie, poster or concurrent session) in the First Choice dropdown, and it will be reviewed for that presentation type only.

To complete your abstract, be sure to press the "Finalize" button. Once your abstract proposal is successfully completed, you will receive an email confirmation of submission from Lisa Nguyen [noreply@precismail.com]. If you do not see this in your inbox, please check your junk mailbox.

Notification & Presentation Confirmation

Regardless of acceptance status, an email notification will be sent to you on Wednesday, April 11, 2018.

If your abstract proposal has been accepted, you must confirm your presentation via the online Presenter Agreement (link in notification email) Tuesday, April 17th. If you do not respond by this date, the acceptance of your abstract proposal may be withdrawn.

 Note: All communication will be made via email. Please make sure that APNA and Precis emails will not be sent to your junk mailbox. If you do not receive an email by the notification date indicated, contact APNA directly regarding your abstract status. You will be required to confirm acceptance by 4/17/18.

Publication

1. If your proposal is accepted and confirmed for a podium presentation (pre-conference session, concurrent session, mini concurrent session, or interactive panel), your presentation summary will appear in the conference materials. Only presenting authors listed in the submission site will be included. Authors not listed as “presenting author” will not be published in conference materials (this is related to CE requirements).
2. Podium presentation abstracts will be posted on the APNA website as a part of the detailed program schedule.
3. The Journal of the American Psychiatric Nurses Association (JAPNA) may publish the podium presentation abstracts in one or more of its bi-monthly issues. All entered authors (presenting and not presenting) will be included.
4. Additionally, final podium presentations from the conference may be published in the APNA eLearning Center.
5. Abstracts of poster presentations given at the conference will be published in the Online Poster Gallery unless otherwise indicated by the presenter. All entered authors (presenting and not presenting) will be included in the Online Poster Gallery.

Disclosure Statement: Conflict of Interest, Commercial Support, Off-label Use

Each individual who is in a position to control the content of an education activity must disclose all relevant relationships with any entity in a position to benefit financially from the success of the CE activity. Examples of relevant relationships include (but are not limited to) those relationships in which the individual benefits by receiving a salary, royalty, intellectual property rights, consulting fee, honoraria, ownership interest (e.g., stocks, stock options, or other ownership interest, excluding, diversified mutual funds, or other financial benefit).

Relevant relationships can also include ‘contracted research’ where the institution receives a grant and manages the grant funds and the individual is the principal or a named investigator on the grant. Financial benefits are usually associated with the roles such as employment, management position, independent contractor (including contracted research), consulting, speaking, teaching, membership on advisory committees or review panels, board membership, and other activities from which remuneration is received. APNA/ANCC consider relationships of the individual involved in the continuing nursing education activity to include financial relationship of the individual’s spouse/partner. Relevant relationships must be disclosed to the learners during the time when the relationship is in effect and for 12 months afterward. APNA is responsible for all disclosed information being shared with the participants/learners on programs handouts, advertising and/or through electronic media.

A. Is there an actual, potential, or perceived conflict of interest for yourself or your spouse/partner?

Recording Release

The Education Department at APNA receives many requests for content of continuing education conferences and workshops. In response to these requests, sessions at the 32nd Annual Conference will be audio and/or video recorded for publication in the APNA eLearning Center. Please sign the release as you prefer. Thank you for your support.

I understand that signing this release in no way prevents me from using my own material in any manner I desire. I further understand, and consent thereto, that the audio recordings may be made available for sale to conference registrants and individuals associated with APNA.

Please select the level of consent that you give on behalf of all of the authors of this presentation regarding the audio recording(s) of your session being made available after the conference on the APNA eLearning Center.

Proposal Part 2

This year's abstract submission is divided by section into individual fields. You can include as many words as you like per field, but the total of all sections must not exceed 250 words. Please include your abstract information in the 6 fields below. All 6 text boxes will be combined to create a complete abstract of 250 words or less.

Choose the category that best suits your abstract proposal. The category determines how your abstract will be reviewed. Click here for the different evaluation criteria for Research abstracts vs. Administration, Education, Practice abstracts.

Abstracts will be posted online for accepted and confirmed presentations unless otherwise indicated by the presenter.

Presentation Summary:

Please be sure your Presentation Summary accurately and concisely reflects the presentation content. The Presentation Summary is exactly what will appear in the conference registration brochure and on the website. It is the only description of your session that will appear in the printed registration brochure. The summary is limited to 50 words.

Example 1 (mini concurrent session): This presentation introduces a new practice-ready theory of safety cues to illustrate how familiar interpersonal strategies used by PMH nurses reduce underlying biological mechanisms of stress. By melding the interpersonal nurse-client relationship theory and emerging biological theory, this practice theory legitimizes nursing interventions and guides development of whole health interventions.

Example 2 (pre-conference session): This interactive, lively presentation presents the opportunity to discuss, develop, and prioritize the steps necessary to formulate the entrepreneurial skills necessary to build and/or expand a successful private practice. The participant will leave with a foundation plan for taking the first steps to success.

Learning Outcome:

Please list your learning outcome below. We recommend that you use Bloom’s Taxonomy action verbs. Here is a handout which lists the different categories and possible verbs: Bloom’s Taxonomy Action Verbs. Learning outcome expressed should be appropriate to the target audience (RN/APRN) and must be measurable.

Complete the following sentence beginning with the verb, capitalized, and ending with a period. "Upon completion of this presentation, participants will be able to...”

Example 1: Describe three features of APNA membership.
Example 2: Compare the neurophysiology of the physical, emotional, and cognitive symptom clusters associated with depression and anxiety.
Example 3: Identify 2 gaps within the working relationship between acute care hospitals and law enforcement.
